Romulus Schools seek 7.5-mill tax increase

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Voters in Romulus will be asked next Monday to increase their school millage by a total of 7.5 mills, including an operating millage hike of 6 mills and a maintenance increase of 1.5 mills.

Romulus School Superintendent Dr. William Bedell said that if the millage issue is not approved, there would be "no choice" other than to close down the school system for three to four months in the fall or early winter.

In Romulus, one mill is equal to $304,000, down from $312,000 in the 1982 tax year.

According to administrators, state aid has, over the past two years, been appropriated on a sporadic basis; payments short, others late, and some not materializing at all.

The school system has been operating at 36.5 mills since 1977, when the last millage raise was voted in. According to Joel Carr, the school board's business administrator, that levy is well below the average in Wayne County.

"Our sixth-hour classes . . . would be brought back. The students need and deserve a full school day."

— Dr. William Bedell

The additional 1.5 mills earmarked for maintenance would be used primarily to repair the roofs of at least four schools, including the junior high school, which has been deemed dangerous by the Michigan Occupational Health and Safety Organization.

Also, according to both Carr and Bedell, if leaks are not fixed soon at Barth and Halecreek Elementary Schools, they will suffer irreparable harm.

The 6 operation mills would go to improve the quality of education in Romulus and strengthen the students' chances at landing choice jobs once they graduate, according to Bedell.

"Our sixth-hour classes, which were curtailed three years ago, would be brought back. The students need and deserve a full school day," Bedell said.

Sports programs would be reinstated at the junior high level; art and music classes would be resumed and computer classes would be held at the elementary and junior high school levels if the millage boost is approved.

"I'm confident that voters in Romulus will pass this millage. They take a lot of pride in their community and in themselves, and the level of education reflects the community perhaps more than anything else," Bedell added.

Bedell said the average Romulus homeowner would pay approximately $50 more in taxes with the additional 7.5 mills.

Flood control plan benefits Romulus, Boller contends

What effects will the proposed New Flood Control Plan have on the residents of Romulus?

According to Brownstown Township Supervisor Curt Boller, who devised the plan, the benefits will be plentiful.

This is the plan that Mayor Beverly McAnally, Boller, Huron Township Supervisor A.J. Haener and several other community leaders took to Washington D.C. last month to present the project to Congressional leaders and the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Known as the "ABCD" Plan, or "Alphabet-- Plan, the estimated cost of the entire project is $88 million, with 75 percent to be financed with federal funds and 25 percent through Gov. Blanchard's new Public Works Project program, which is designed to stimulate economic development in Michigan.

"The ABCD' nickname is appropriate for this project,"

Boller said, "because it is simple in concept yet would work very well in achieving greater control of flood conditions for the region through what we consider the most economical means available."

Boller said the project would divert storm drain runoff originating at the Detroit Metro Airport in Romulus away from the Frank and Poet Drain which cuts through southern Taylor and Riverview and Trenton on its way to the Detroit River.

"Our new concept," Boller said, "instead would be to divert the water south from the airport area via an excavated drain and then merge in into both the Brownstown Creek and the Silver Creek further to the south."

"Both of these creeks would be cleaned and straightened to provide more efficient runoff of storm water. This all can be accomplished without the need of acquiring expensive right-of-way. It can be done within the existing drainage system after cleaning and redesign to provide for more capacity," Boller added.

Among the potential benefits Boller feels would directly effect this area are:

- Will eliminate the need to build retention basins in Romulus used for temporary holding of storm water.

- Eliminate the need to construct expensive super ditch south through Huron Township.

"It's a project whose time has come," said Boller, "to ensure planned growth for this region. It may only be on the drawing board now, but we have received a preliminary 'green light' from the Corps of Engineers and it could become a reality within five years."

At last!

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the long-awaited Barden Cablevision of Romulus system are scheduled for this Friday, June 8. According to Don Barden, custom-made equipment has been ordered and the "earth stations" are due to arrive anyday. Barden says that no time has yet been specified for the groundbreaking. Progress is shown here, as the foundations for the towers have been poured, getting the headquarters refurbished. The building Barden will be using is the old Manufacturers Bank, located at 12750 Huron River Drive.

The winners are...

There were plenty of colorful shopping bags for customers at Bilmar's Supermarket in Romulus, after more than 3,000 elementary school students put their best crayon, marker, or whatever to the task of decorating the brown bags for the Shopping Bag Coloring Contest. Posing with Bilmar's owner, Bill Simmonds, were first-place winners (front row, from left: Nesean Worthy, Wick; Michelle Allen, Merriman; Amy Marschekowski, St. Aloysius; Cassandra Tasky, Merriman; (second row, from left) Glen McClure, Wick; Sherri Hanson, Halecreek; Jeff O'Connor, Halecreek and April Duprey, Halecreek.

Bags o' art

Students tackle new art medium

Students from the seven Romulus elementary schools participated in a "Shopping Bag Coloring Contest" sponsored by Bilmar's Supermarket in Downtown Romulus. The theme for this exciting and touching event was "I LOVE ... with the subject pertaining to school."

What did some of the children express in their drawings? Amy from the first grade best loved recess; Sherri in Special Education, loved the playground; Glen, a sixth-grader, loved drawing; Jeffrey from the fifth-grade loved work; April, in the fourth grade loved math; Michelle, a third-grader, loved her teacher; Nesean, second grader, loved to read and Cassandra, in kindergarten, loved her teacher.

The list goes on and on. More than 3,000 shopping bags were colored by the students from Barth, Cory, Halecreek, Hayti, Merriman, St. Aloysius and Wick schools. The young people have not only expressed their love for school, but also human understanding and the importance of education. The years of schooling — kindergarten through sixth grade — are the preparation years that will guide them to exhibit accreditable skill and vigor in the pursuit of scientific knowledge and to develop high ideals of citizenship and scholarship.

Guidelines for judging the contest was not an easy task. From the 3,000 bags entered, the children in each grade and classroom selected one winner from their room. From each room victor a winner had to be selected by grades per school. That left a tabulation of 51 finalists (kindergarten through sixth and special education).

These artistic drawings were displayed at Bilmar's Supermarket. A panel of several judges then had to select a first-place winner from each grade as well as a second- and third-place winner from each grade.

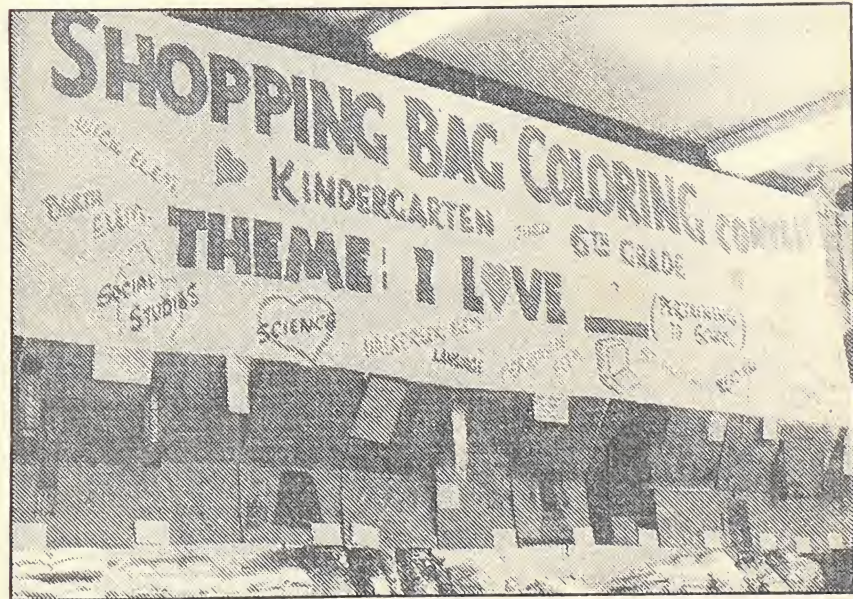

The panel of judges were Mayor Beverly McAnally; Bilmar's Assistant Manager Dennis Lorbeske; Bilmar's Head Cashiers Teresa Shiminsky and Lynn Conway, and from the Romulus Senior Towers, Amy Robertson.

All of the other colored shopping bags (approximately 3,000 of them) were also utilized. Groceries were put in these bags for Bilmar's customers to enjoy.

Prizes for this contest were: First place, $10 gift certificate, second place, $5 gift certificate, third place, apples, and all other finalist participants, Snicker candy bars.

The winners were: First place: kindergarten, Cassandra Tasky, Merriman; first grade, Amy Matschekowski, St. Aloysius; second grade, Ne-sean Worthy, Wick; third grade, Michelle Allen, Merriman; fourth grade, April Duprey, Halecreek; fifth grade, Glen McClure, Wick; sixth grade, Jeffrey O'Connor and Special Ed, Sherri Hanson, Halecreek; Second Place: Crystal Nelson, Kimberly Swanson, Keith Parks, Susan Kreft, Linda (Kelly) Ditsch, Joan Dubanik, Crystal Lippard; Third Place: Jennifer Bramlett, Tonya Frye, David Pritchard, Danny Larson, Renee Bitner, Aleeah Bishop and Nicole Martenka.

Commissioners, hospital win 1st Round in battle with Luc

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Chalk one up for the Wayne County Commissioners and the doctors at Wayne County General Hospital. The 150-year-old Westland based facility remains open today, although Wayne County Executive William Lucas had ordered it closed on or before June 1, 1984. Lucas's plans to shut the hospital had been shelved by Circuit Judge Harold Ryan, who issued a restraining order until June 11 at the request of doctors at the hospital. Judge Ryan has asked the parties involved to try to find a solution to their problem. He did warn, however, that if a solution to the problem had not been found before June 11, he would begin his deliberation on the issues. Lucas contends that the 340-bed hospital is losing approximately $50,000 a day and that the $18 million annual deficit has put a drain on the county budget. He said that he has been looking for a buyer for the hospital, however, none has stepped forth. In the meantime, Senate Democratic Leader William Faust (D-Westland) last week introduced a senate concurrent resolution creating a special joint committee of the Michigan Legislature to review the responsibilities of WCGH and consider the consequences of its closing. "My concerns over Wayne County General Hospital are threefold," Faust said. "First, I am concerned about the availability of medical care to the residents of western Wayne County. Almost 23,000 patients were admitted to the hospital's emergency center alone in the 1983 fiscal year." Faust pointed out that he was concerned about "the impact of the hospital's closing on its employees. More than half of the hospital's 839 staff members come from western Wayne County. "And third, WCGH is one of only two trauma centers in the area, the other being in Ann Arbor. The hospital serves as a trauma center for any air crash at Detroit Metropolitan Airport and for accident victims along the interstate highways in the area. "Therefore, the special committee will be investigating the impact of the hospital's closing on its employees, and also what contingency plans need to be made regarding emergency services for western Wayne County and Metro Airport." Last week the Wayne County Commissioners adopted a resolution that ordered Lucas to come up with a plan for collection of outstanding debts owed the hospital and to implement the plan within 10 days. "The objective is to help resolve some of the financial problems of the county," said Commissioner Milton Mack. Mack added that he hopes the commissioners' resolution would generate concern which "is lacking in the Executive Office. The Executive has simply failed to move on these collections and we want him to get started." According to a release put out by the commissioners, the hospital has $31 million in uncollectable debts. The commissioners emphasized, however, that "the mandate is not meant to harass or coerce the poor who are clearly unable to pay."

Enjoying golden years

"Tell 'em I'm having a ball," said Bert Osterberg, with a smile that could almost be heard over the telephone. Ad representative for the Belleville Enterprise for 34 years, Osterberg cleaned out his office in March — to the dismay of many customers who regarded him as a friend. Three months into the good life, Osterberg, 66, confirms it is indeed a good life. "Bored? Not a sign of it," said the former ad man who still sets his clock for 7 a.m. in preparation for a busy day. "It seems that I'm always going somewhere. I don't slow down."

A whiz of a bridge player and an emerald green thumb gardener, Osterberg concedes his wealth of activities eases any "displacement" syndrome. Nor has his wife Amy complained about his being underfoot. "She just goes her merry way, and I go mine," he said. "She plays bridge with the ladies, goes bowling. We each have our own little project." The busy Osterbergs celebrate togetherness at leisurely lunches, at which their granddaughter Sarah is a frequent guest. A close family life helped make the transition a smooth one. "For some people their life is their work," Osterberg said. "But my life began at home. Not that I didn't like the

For you, Bert

Bert Osterberg, long-time Belleville Enterprise ad man, admits he "kind of choked up" when Pat Birbeck, owner of Bud's TV, presented him with a specially wrapped gift. The gift (a radio and tape recorder) was a retirement present from Osterberg's many friends. But Osterberg's stayed in touch with former clients who became friends during 34 years on the job.

people I worked with, but they're what I miss about the job. Not the meetings or the just plain going to work in the morning." Osterberg still drops by to visit former co-workers and customers — who have had to adjust to seeing the impeccably dressed salesman lounging casually in slacks and sweaters. For his part, Osterberg's grown accustomed to the friendly (and sometimes envious) questions about his new state of affairs. "Everyone wants to know when I'm going to do some travelling," he said. "We don't have any big trips lined up. But there's time. There's lots of time." Osterberg confided that he'd been hankering after the "golden" years for some time.

"My wife retired from her job at Burroughs several years ago," he said. "And I saw what a good time she was having. I started to think I could do the same."

The Romulus Beautification Committee and some of the outstanding children from all the Romulus Elementary Schools, including St. Aloysius, kicked off Michigan Week with a concerted effort to clean up various debris on the right of way of some of the busier roads in Romulus.

In just a two-hour period, these children and the adult supervisors filled enough garbage bags to fill eight Romulus DPW trucks.

After all the hard work, the children and parents met at Kenedy Park where McDonald's of Wayne Road in Romulus treated them all to lunch.

He is a member of the Romulus Substance Abuse Council; Co-chairman for Romulus School District Finance Committee; 11 years as member of Merriman PTA, two as president, Vice-President for Board of Education for two years.	Richard Campbell Incumbent, Richard Campbell is 68 years old and has made Romulus his home for 22 years. He is retired from the U.S. Corps of Engineers. He is presently serving on the Board of Education as well as Head-start Policy Committee; Wayne County Association of School Boards; Metro Association for Improved School Legislation (vice-president); Chairman of the Romulus School Board Policy Committee; Romulus Board of Appeals, and in the past has served on: Citizens Advisory Committee; Compensatory Education Council.	Henry B. Nolen Nolen is a 33-year resident of Romulus, and as a single parent has two children: Byron, 15; and Rhonda, 17. He graduated from Romulus High School in 1956 and went on to Eastern Michigan and then Maryland University. He holds a bachelor of arts degree in management. He also belongs to Lions International, for which he served as president for one year and secretary for three, and the Wayne County Community College Advisory Committee. Nolen also served in the U.S. Army for three years.	Pat Patterson Pat Patterson has lived in Romulus for 38 years and is a graduate of Romulus High School and Alpena Community College. He is married to Mary Jo and has two children: Todd, 15; and Thom, 12. He is currently employed as a mechanical technician at Sun Pipe Line Co. He has also served in the Michigan Air National Guard.	Gordon Schleicher A 40-year-old graduate of Michigan State University (Ph.D. M.A.) with a degree in Education, Schleicher is a self-employed pastor at Willow United Methodist Church and part-time educational consultant on the faculty of Wayne State University. He is also employed by the Burroughs Corp. as a trainer and designer. He is married to Margery and has two children: Marcia, 11; and Andy, 9. He is a member of the Michigan Association of Educators for the Gifted, Talented and Creative.
Why do you feel qualified to fill the position you seek?	My 20-plus years in business management and previous experience as a school board member, along with my participation in various organizations adequately qualifies me to hold this position.	I am qualified to be a Board of Education Member since I have been a Board of Education member for the past three years, the last two years as vice-president. My knowledge of the educational process and the State and Federal funding of such qualifies me. I have been honest in my convictions and my part in the decision making process and will continue to be honest in my role as a Board of Education member.	The reason I wish to be re-elected to the Romulus School Board are my concerns for education. My experience will be a help to our school district striving for excellence. I don't have axes to grind and I do not have magic formulas to solve our district's problems. All I can do is help in the maximum effort toward educating our students. There should not be political issues in this election just the goal of giving our students the best education we can afford.	I have a strong desire and commitment towards improving the quality of education provided by our school system. I feel that my background would enable me to make valuable contributions toward that end. I have completed school through the Romulus system, obtained a five-year college education and have been actively involved in community and civic affairs. I am also a parent of two children attending public school in Romulus.	To see if I can help the school system provide an even better education for our children. I feel I am qualified for the position because I am a concerned parent.	I felt called to share my knowledge of and experience in education with the district as a whole. I found I could only do so much as a parent within existing information and decision making systems. I know what public school education should be. My management training and experience gives me the knowledge and ability to mobilize the educational resources and, to establish good working relationships between groups.
What do you feel are the major issues involved in this election?	I believe it is the duty of the Romulus Community Schools to insure a sound and quality education, while attempting to work within the current budget. It is necessary for the Board of Education to adopt and maintain a balanced budget that will be accepted by the State Board of Education before asking the taxpayers for more money, through additional tax millage. By enforcing discipline and maintaining a drug free environment we can assure a sound learning environment for the students.	I feel that there are no major issues to be debated that can concern us at this time. An issue that quite often arises is the funding of education, but until State and Federal funding laws are changed we can only actively work expediting changes of these laws.	Public education must mean just what it says. We should provide the academics or training for any person in our community who wishes to achieve their highest potential in our changing society. We should reach out to those who wish to go on to higher education; those who want and need training in job skills; those who wish to come back and improve their education, and those who are handicapped, mentally or physically. We must also strengthen the elementary grades, starting with pre-school and kindergarten.	1) The system of funding education in Michigan. We must seek a more sound and equitable system for providing basic funding for public schools than the current one based on property taxes. 2) Achievement standards in our schools. Definite and measurable standards must be established and enforced for each grade level to assure a minimum performance 3) School curriculum must be brought up to date for preparing our youth, for the advanced age of technology which is now upon us	The school millage is the most important issue at hand. I hope that it passes.	My thoughts on the school board situation: Divisions between teachers and administration. A closer working team approach to problem solving would result in higher quality decisions and improved inactive parents and educational opportunities. Divisions between existing parent groups; more involvement by parents in their child's education will improve that education. I would share my knowledge and experience and identify other resource persons who could advise the board and school system.

County approves waste plan

appears doubtful that it will become a reality. The MJW site in Sumpter Township was not included in the plan.

However, the only way that the Huron landfill would become a reality is if the "wire grid" studies being conducted in Niagra Falls were declared effective against "bird strikes" by the Federal Aviation Association (FAA) and if subsequent public hearings conducted by the planning committee were held.

"And that's only for the site to be considered," said Jim Kosteva of Canton, who sits on the board. "There's been no change in the language regarding the Sibley site, but I think attitudes have changed. I think that the committee heard substantial testimony from the township, from aeronautics people and the pilots associations to discourage the site's final approval."

Wayne County Commissioner Milt Mack said that "if the FAA never issues a ruling on the reliability of the wire grids, then there would not be a hearing on it. No action would be taken."

"From my perspective," said Mack, "right now there is no hazard. There is no bird strike hazard, so why create one — by putting a landfill in only 10,000 feet from the airport — and then try and keep it under control. That's creating a risk, and I don't think that's the way to go at all."

The plan now goes to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and to the County Executive's office for approval. From there, it will go to the 43 communities involved and must gain approval from two-thirds before going to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

If it should fail to gain the two-thirds support needed, the DNR would likely take over and design their own plan with no community input at all, which most involved feel would be "devastating."

Students attend world affairs conference

Three Romulus Senior High School students will attend the eighth annual World Affairs Seminar at the University of Wisconsin, thanks to scholarships awarded by local clubs and organizations.

The seminar will be staged June 17-22.

The recipients of the scholarships, valued at $125, are Linda Bousino, daughter of Lyn and Maria Cousino, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Romulus; Thomas Turner, son of Ollie and Janet Turner, sponsored by the Romulus Rotary Club; and Amy Vavro, daughter of Robert and Katherine Vavro, sponsored by the Romulus Rotary Club.

The World Affairs Seminar is a personalized educational program for specially selected high school students. Its primary purpose is to bring about a better understanding of world problems on the part of high school students through a study of current issues, while at the same time providing the opportunity to discuss those issues with young people from the countries concerned.

Emphasis is placed upon promoting a better understanding of the causes of world conflict with the thought that if the causes are understood world problems are more likely to be solved peacefully.

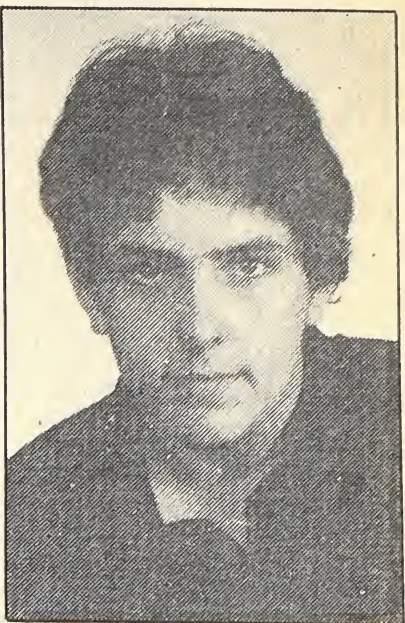

Students from foreign lands will make up about one-fifth of the total number of participants and will be coming from 50 different countries through several student exchange programs. This will enable both U.S. students and foreign students to learn about the customs, traditions, aspirations and heritage of each other. Spaces are available for more than 750 students with 150 spaces available for foreign students.

The experience of living on a college campus will be both exciting and worthwhile. Students will have five nights lodging in a double occupancy dormitory room, all meals including a banquet, hear various speakers, see films, participate in panels and group discussions, view foreign exhibits, receive name tags, portfolios, and other seminar materials. University recreational facilities are open for student use as is the University Health Center for emergency health care.

John Domas, Rotary representative and Romulus Senior High School counselor, has issued a thank you for the assistance with the program to Romulus High principal E.L. Sheffield, Mae Jackson, Bill Knight and Al Wilkerson, Romulus High principal E.L. Gerald Nault, Dave Ferdon, Sue Vogel, Mike Kernohan, Wayne Schimming, Fred Coleman, Ella Darnell and Jackie Riley, Romulus teachers; and Bonnie Bossidis, Romulus High Guidance Office secretary.

Summer jobs offered

There will be a total of 180 job openings for residents of Romulus, Belleville, Huron and Van Buren this summer for those between the ages of 16 and 21 and who meet the economic requirements.

The Summer Youth Program is a federally-funded project that runs from June 18 through Aug. 14. Those involved will work 32-hour weeks, Monday through Thursday, for $3.35 an hour.

Bill Murphy, who heads the program at Romulus High School, says that the 180 allocations will be divided up according to school district size, although one needn't be in school to apply.

"As a matter of fact," Murphy said, "we've even had quite a few college kids who needed jobs and met the financial requirements working in the past."

Since Governor Blanchard's youth Job Corp is being held hostage in the House (tacked onto both tax cut bills), Murphy says it appears likely that this will be the only youth employment around to have state or federal funding.

Those interested in obtaining an application form should contact the following: in Belleville and Van Buren, Barb Brendtke at 697-9133; in Huron, Raymond Vollmar, 782-1436; and in Romulus, Bill Murphy at 941-2311.

Her motto is "Don't walk in front of me, I may not follow. Don't walk behind, I may not lead. Walk beside me and be my friend."

GFWC meets

The final meeting for the 1983-84 club year of the GFWC Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club was held Wednesday, May 16, at the Tin Lizzie Restaurant in Belleville. The meeting was attended by approximately 20 members and guests. Special guest for the evening was Pauline Kennedy-Ball of Belleville. Club members set final plans for summer activities, including a booth at the Strawberry Festival in conjunction with the Van Buren Township Energy Commission, a Historic Home Tour to benefit the proposed Van Buren Township Museum, and a road rally to benefit the same.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By John Brimble

Here's a healthy breakfast: honey and peanut butter on whole grain bread; sprinkle on some crushed cereal flakes and broil until bubbly.

You can use brown rice in recipes that call for white rice, but it does take longer to cook. Brown rice has had less processing, so it's more nutritious.

Mayonnaise, it turns out, is not the reason poorly refrigerated salads go bad. Rather, it is the basic food — usually fish or eggs — itself. In fact, the dressing's high-acid content slows bacteria growth.

Yes, you can reuse the flavorful liquid in which you've marinated meat or poultry. But it is perishable, since some meat blood is in it, so be sure to refrigerate the marinade in a glass jar.

What could be easier than cranberry ice? Beat a one-pound can of jellied cranberry sauce at high speed about 5 minutes, then fold in a cup of lemon-lime soda. Freeze in plastic ice cube trays. When firm, buzz in food processor, then freeze in container until 30 minutes before serving.

Against all odds Tonya finds success in Olympics

By ROSE MARY REIZ
ANP Staff Writer

Most athletes could learn something from Tonya Meiers, 10, of Westland.

The oldest of four children, Tonya began suffering convulsions and grand mal seizures at the age of three. Epilepsy and muscular dystrophy resulted in slight brain damage and the need for hip-toe casts and leg braces, finally removed last year.

None of that seems to have much of an impact on the wiry gymnast who brought home two gold and two bronze medals for her performances in the Wayne County Special Olympic games this spring.

Tonya's freckle-splashed face splits easily into a wide smile as she leans against the kitchen table in her Westland home, ribbons and medals clutched in one hand, a half-eaten cookie in the other.

Tonya is impressed, but only temporarily, with being the subject of a local newspaper interview. More interested in joining the friends who are pounding on the screen door, she escapes outside and leaves the explaining to her mother.

Involvement in the Special Olympics came at a good time for Tonya, who is enrolled in special education classes at Jefferson Elementary School, where she is doing first and second grade work.

"Tonya's younger sister, Crystal, gets all As and Bs in school. Sometimes that can get Tonya down," her mother said. "But now Tonya's feelings about herself are better. Now she's got something to show her sister."

Tonya has more than medals to show for her efforts, explained Nancy Fialka-Chilcutt, a Special Olympics coordinator and coach for the Wayne-Westland School District.

"The games, open to mentally impaired athletes with I.Q.s under 70, improve self-concept, the awareness of one's own potential for physical activity and build socialization skills," the coach said.

"It's exciting to see the positive effect. Those involved in the games improve physically, eat better and sleep better — just like any of us feel better when we're active."

"As a result of increased activity," she added, "attention spans increase and academic work also can improve."

The games, the coach explained, also help educate the general public about what special education students can do, given the training and opportunity.

Some parents of mentally impaired, understandably protective, underestimate their child's ability to participate. Others are reluctant to see their impaired child become the focus of attention.

Still others see the games as a charitable event, the medals as "gifts" bestowed on the less fortunate.

Try telling Tonya that.

She began earning her medals in January, when she started attending afterschool gymnastic sessions, which continued through April.

"Tonya works hard," her coach said. "Her potential for developing in gymnastics is exciting. What's maybe even more important, she has a good attitude. If she falls off the balance beam, she gets right back up. She has a lot of fun, but works hard, too, which is what we want for all our athletes."

"Tonya took the work seriously," her mother added. "She actually cried if she had to miss a practice session."

That attitude paid off when Tonya's two-minute floor exercise and tumbling routine resulted in first-place wins.

"The medals are important," Fialka-Chilcutt said. "The idea of winning medals energizes and excites the athletes."

"But socialization overpowers the competition of the games. The thing that impresses me most about the games is seeing athletes begin to feel good about themselves, watching their self-concepts improve."

"Until you're a part of it, you just don't know what it's about."

About Special Olympics

Special Olympics is an international program of physical fitness, sports training and athletic competition for mentally impaired children and adults.

Since 1968, when Special Olympics was created by the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. Foundation, more than two million special children and adults have experienced the joy of play and received the benefits of physical training and sports competition.

Special Olympics is open to every retarded individual no matter how severely handicapped, regardless of the level of skill or the extent of the disability. Every athlete has an equal chance to win. No participant goes unrecognized or unrewarded.

Mentally impaired individuals 8 years of age or older, with an IQ score of 75 or less, are eligible to participate in the games.

Special Olympics offers 14 official sports in both team play and individual skills competition categories.

The international program is administered by a non-profit charitable organization located in Washington, D.C. Michigan Special Olympics receives no money from either the federal or state government. Moneys raised locally stay in the state or nation in which they are raised.

More than 10,000 volunteers provide the manpower for the Michigan Special Olympics.

The mentally retarded have always been told, "You can't do it." Special Olympics is proving that, given the chance, they can.

The Special Olympics Oath embraces the philosophy:

"Let me win.

But if I cannot win,

Let me be brave in the attempt."

Her diploma, at last!

Van Buren Township resident Barbara Clayton is known to many people in that community.

She has lived there since 1942 and has been active in a variety of programs, including the September Days Senior Citizens Club, volunteer work in the township, her membership in Trinity Episcopal Church and as a high school student.

At age 64, she has been, and may well be, the most active member of the community.

However, Clayton did something she has always wanted to do on May 20, when she donned her cap and gown to receive her high school diploma after successfully completing studies through the Van Buren Public Schools' Adult Education Program.

As Van Buren school district officials see it, she's a living testimonial to the adage that you're never too old to learn... or graduate from high school.

Clayton—Kollath wed

St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Taylor was decorated with baskets of pink, white and red carnations for the doubling marriage of Susan Renee Clayton of Belleville and Mark Stephen Kollath of Belleville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clayton of Belleville, while the groom is the son of Mrs. John Scribner of Taylor and Stephen Kollath of Westland.

Seventy-five guests were in attendance for the wedding, officiated by the Rev. Alvin Kaufman.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose an Alfred Angelo original gown of silk organza. The floor-length, full skirt was accented by layered rows of lace. The high neckline was also trimmed lace, while the long sleeves with tiny flowers and ruffled cuffs with ribbon. A straw-flowered wreath, accented with silk flowers and baby's breath held her blushing bride veil in place.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white silk roses, lily of the valley, jonquil, lace accents and silk light lavender tiger lilies.

She asked her sister, Debra K. Clayton, to serve as her maid of honor. The honor attendant wore a floor-length gown of lavender silk and chiffon with a lace chiffon overjacket. Her bouquet was a silk nosegay of dark lavender carnations and roses, light lavender tiger lilies and jonquil.

The groom asked his brother, Michael Kollath of Taylor. Ushers included friends of the groom, Ronald Shook, Robert Shook and Michael Kiakos, all of Taylor, and Gary Grunzinkas of Belleville.

Mrs. Clayton chose a floor-length blue chiffon gown with layered nylon organza lace bodice. Her corsage was of silk

Golden anniversary

A family reunion on May 12 helped John and Ruth Sanders of Detroit celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The couple exchanged their vows on May 16, 1934, and had 60 friends and relatives, including their 11 children from Wayne, Westland and Canton Township, 30 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. A surprise for the golden jubilarians was a quilt created by their children, who each made one square pertaining to the 50th anniversary.

YOU CAN "CHARGE IT!"

GM's NEW 'FREE' DENTAL PLAN COULD COST YOU PLENTY.

A new dental plan you'll be offered at work appears to cover almost everything for practically nothing. But don't be fooled. You don't get something for nothing. While it will cut health care costs for your employer, it will cost you plenty — in terms of quality, convenience, personal service and freedom to choose your own dentist.

NO FREEDOM OF CHOICE

Only certain dentists will participate in this type of plan. If you elect such coverage from your employer — and your personal and preferred dentist is not associated with a capitation plan — you will have to drop your present dentist and you will be assigned to a new location for dental services.

INCONVENIENT TREATMENT LOCATIONS

There is no guarantee that your newly assigned dentist will be convenient to your home or place of employment — meaning wasted time getting to and from treatment centers.

LOSS OF PERSONAL SERVICE

Subscribers under this new plan will place an added burden on participating dentists — who must also continue treating their long established patients. Capitation patients will be competing for limited appointment time. If you were the dentist, who would get priority?

REDUCED DENTAL CARE QUALITY

Under this capitation plan, participating dentists receive a minimal monthly fixed fee to meet your dental needs, regardless of how extensive they may be. The cost of your dental service beyond the most basic level will likely come out of your dentist's own pocket. After all, he could be using the time to treat a regular patient paying regular rates. While most dentists are truly conscientious professionals, the potential exists for delaying treatment and employing quicker, temporary, less expensive techniques for capitation patients — and probably with no opportunity to discuss the treatment approach, as you would with a dentist of your own choice.

For more information about how capitation plans may affect the quality of your dental care, ask your personal dentist's opinion. Or write the Michigan Dental Association.

Decision day for schools

Voters will go to the polls next Monday to elect oard of Education members and in some cases to approve or reject millage proposals. Should these elections be typical of past school ard elections — and nothing suggests anything to e contrary — only a small percentage of the electo-te will cast ballots. A minority of voters will decide e type of school system their community will have.

In our pursuit of the American dream a large seg-ment of society has neglected a vital element of that dream; the participation in government and the privilege of exercising the right to vote. We implore everyone to join the voting minority next Monday. Let us never forget that the right and duty to vote are the backbone of the American way of life.

Vote 'Yes' on millage

'Do Your Share — Say You Care' is the motto of ose promoting a "Yes" vote on the millage propos-in Romulus. This saying also would be applicable ' pro-millage forces in the Van Buren and Ply-outh -Canton School Districts. Romulus voters are being asked to approve a 7.5 ll hike with 1.5 mills earmarked for maintenance poses. In Van Buren, a 6.5 mill increase is sought d 1.74 mills is proposed in Plymouth - Canton. ters in Inkster will ballot on a 5 mill renewal. Ve strongly urge a YES vote on these millage uests. Of course, approving a tax increase ost seems un-American to most taxpayers. Vot-on school millage issues represents for some a nce to take out frustrations on a political system ich operates with our tax dollars. Before taking out such frustrations, however, con-er the ramifications. A progressive school system is a must for a thriving community, especially one which hopes to experience rising property values. Put another way, a community with inferior schools will promote an inferior image. Students, who cannot vote, are those most affected by millage votes. And students represent the future ... either a progressive future or an inferior one. Of course, blanket approval for all millage is non-sensical. Fiscal responsibility must be proven before a hike becomes warranted. The school districts of Romulus, Van Buren and Plymouth - Canton have not received a boost in mil-lage levy in several years while operating in a res-ponsible manner. A YES vote on the millage proposals is in the best interests of all residents of these communities. Let's leave the frustration out of the voting booth.

Qualified for school board andidates will vie for two, four-year terms on a mber of local school boards next Monday. A ong field of candidates will be on the ballot, turing some of the most qualified individuals to r for school board berths in years. Each district has an impressive group of educated andidates who have exhibited community involve-ment. The fact that the candidates's credentials seem to keep improving through the years is a positive sign for the future of our schools. Following is a list of our recommendations for election to the various school boards:

Economics of advertising Part III

What a great country we live in. We can choose. We can choose what to buy, where to buy and do it at a time of our own choosing. We even have the choice not to choose or to choose badly or inappropriately. We can purchase inferior products and services and pay a price that is inflated — if we so choose.

Consumer groups, government agencies and even newspaper columnists write volumes on the subject of goods and services. All endeavor to inform the public about the best product, and those that consumers should avoid. What becomes clear when researching "value" is that often there is a price to pay for judging solely on the basis of cost. High quality costs more, but more often than not it lasts longer, prompts fewer owner headaches, and proves to be the better value.

How about a used car? Would you buy based on the lowest price? Gordon Hassig at Hall-Dodds on Michigan Ave. in Wayne has been in the used car business for more than 35 years. A used car from him may not be offered at the lowest price but he believes in selling a product that you will be satisfied with — a car that won't break down on the way home. Why do you think Hassig has survived for 35 years?

We often have prospective advertisers tell our sales representatives "Well, I'll test your newspaper with an ad". My, how often I wish they had saved their money, for by and large, they have wasted it with one ad with us. Sound strange? Perhaps, but it's true.

Advertising is a commitment. If not, why are millions of dollars spent each year doing it? But, as the old saying goes, "Half of all advertising dollars are wasted. Unfortunately, no one has ever figured out which half." Advertisers sometimes attempt to conquer the world with one quarter page ad, or worse, one two column by two inch advertisement.

They often pick a product that has rested on their shelves for a while, and seem to tell our sales representatives, "Try to get someone to buy that. I haven't found anyone so far." It's almost as though they know if it doesn't sell for them, they can hit our sales representa-tive with this "test" for all time. "No one called," or "I didn't sell one of those over-priced Edsel tool sets."

We have had sales people actually become emotionally overwrought and personally involved in their customers' welfare — "If that two by two ad doesn't work, my customer will go out of business," they lament. And they mean it!

We conscientiously work to counsel our advertisers on product or service selection and timing of their advertising. Their success stories through the years are legion. But no one should know the individual business as well as those who operate and run that business.

We can provide an audience. What will trigger that audience to take action and buy? Yes, price, but, quality, style, selection, presentation and courteous, friendly, informed service will entice the willing customer to pass through their door. How many times have you left a business which failed to have a salesperson wait on you? Or failed to buy when the salesperson didn't even know which product was advertised in their own advertisement — or the price?

The Romulus Roman and Belleville Enterprise were founded in 1889 or so I'm told. I wasn't there. The Wayne Eagle was founded in 1945, along with the Inkster-Ledger Star. There have been many tests by thousands of advertisers during the years from then until now. We didn't do much for some of them, but we did, indeed, save some of them from extinction — and we made some of them wealthy.

Advertising is an investment, one which good businessmen should budget, and one which should provide a return. Newspaper advertising, and in fact, Associated News-paper advertising, remains the best opportunity for merchants to ring the cash register through a new and happy customer.

We need a well-timed product, appropriately priced to prove to merchants exactly what we can do. If you would like to map out an advertising strategy, call us at 729-4000. Our Business Manager Bob Gaberson would be happy to talk to you.

See you next week.

"People of Western Europe: A landing was made this morning on the coast of France by troops of the Allied Expeditionary Force. This landing is part of the concerted United Nations plan for the liberation of Europe ... I call upon all who love freedom to stand with us now. Together we shall achieve victory."

With these words, broadcast on June 6, 1944, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower described the greatest amphibious assault in history, Operation Overload, or as it's better known, the D-Day invasion.

Under Eisenhower's command, the Allied forces and equipment formed what the general called "a great human spring, coiled for the moment when its energy should be released and it would vault the English Channel."

The site planned for the invasion was one of the most closely guarded secrets of World War II. Hitler believed the Allies would invade France at Calais but Eisenhower chose the beaches at Normandy.

As the saying goes, the rest is history. The surprise at Normandy, often referred to as "the longest day," was followed by the liberation of Paris; victory at the Battle of the Bulge, and ultimately the end of the war.

Today, in the midst of world strife, we commemorate the 40th anniversary of D-Day. Many ceremonies, parades and special exhibits are planned around the world. An event at Ft. Riley in Junction City, Kansas will be of particular interest to Mrs. Florence Sorwick of Westland.

Her son, Warrant Officer 3 Robert E. Taylor has designed a special stamp in honor of D-Day and his work of art will be unveiled today during ceremonies at Ft. Riley. Taylor, a 1960 graduate of Wayne Memorial High, is an old hand when it comes to producing art.

"Every base he's ever been stationed at has some of his work on display," Mrs. Sorwick declared. "He was just commissioned to do a portrait of a general from the Vietnam War. I guess the stamp goes on sale June 6 ... I haven't seen it yet."

During a 19-year military career with the Air Force and Army, Taylor travels have taken him "everywhere I can think of," according to his mom.

"He's been in Germany, Turkey, Japan ... and it all started in Wayne," she said. "He married an art shop owner from Japan and they have two beautiful children."

Taylor's stamp will serve as another reminder of a momentous day on the beaches of Normandy. It just might be his most significant work of art.

Winning.

For some it's a goal. For others, an obsession or a hopeless dream. Obviously some wins, such as occurred 40 years ago in Europe are more important than others.

I find the philosophy of proven winners fascinating because the challenge of success intimidates most of us. During a seminar held at Cobo Hall last week, entitled appropriately enough "The Winning Edge," the favorite quotes of three winners from the sports' world surfaced.

As we pay tribute to the thousands of Allied winners of another era, a few words on the subject of "winning" seems appropriate:

"The quality in a person's life is in direct proportion to their commitment to excellence." — Coach Tom Landry's favorite quote

"Everybody has the will to win, few have the will to prepare to win." — Coach Bobby Knight

"Winning is not a sometime thing. You don't win once-in-awhile. You don't do things right once-in-awhile. You do them right all the time. I believe in God and I believe in human decency. But I firmly believe that any man's finest hour, his greatest fulfillment to all he holds dear, is the moment when he has worked his heart out in a good cause and lies exhausted on the field of battle victorious." — the late Vince Lombardi

A day that went down in history

Members of an American landing party lend helping hands to other members of their organization whose landing craft was sunk by enemy action off the coast of France on June 6, 1944. These survivors reached Utah Beach, near Cherbourg, by using a life raft.

Skip the interest

To the Editor:

I would like to point out some things I have noticed while my child has been at Barth Elementary School in Romulus.

A principal stands outside the school most every morning to meet the children as they arrive on their buses.

Teachers from kindergarten to second grade have gone beyond the scope of their job descriptions in doing things for the children. This in spite of the fact that they have gotten the short end of things in recent years.

There are many parents and students that have a special place in their hearts for these teachers, but the trouble with that is "It doesn't buy many groceries at Bilmars."

It has been said, "You only get what you pay for." Well it seems we have been getting more from our teachers than we deserve for a long time.

In closing I would also like to mention that we are now paying interest on a bond issue that was passed about two years ago. To wait so long to pass a millage, that you are hopelessly in debt is ludicrous. Interest payments only benefit the investors. How does the saying go? "You can pay me now or you can pay me later." Why don't we pass this millage now and skip the interest?

Hire Canton resident

To the Editor:

I'm writing this letter in regards to an article which was written by Rose Mary Reiz, May 9, 1984, titled Shortage causes police "burnout".

I feel as a citizen of the Great U.S.A., and now presently residing in Canton, that each and everyone of us, look up, look down and look within ourselves to see what can we do to lighten the burden of crime in our city.

Being the first born son of a now retired Wayne County Sheriff, I know what a police officer is, a person which will stand tall and proud for law and order, a leader not a follower; so people of Canton, when you hire any new police officers look in your own backyard first.

There are a few people right here in Canton that meet the bill for the job. Hiring a Canton resident makes common sense and is good business. That's my viewpoint. What's yours?

Romulus run lauded

To the Editor:

I ran in the Romulus Community Pride 10 Kilometer race May 19. The race was a delightful experience and I want to express my thanks and appreciation to those who organized it. From before the start to after the finish I was awarded every consideration and courtesy as a runner and as a visitor to Romulus.

Directions to the race were clear. Packets were handed out expeditiously. Facilities were more than adequate. I loved the band at the start of the race. The course was well marked and the people along the course were helpful and encouraging. The finish of the race was well-done. I had never before heard my name over the loud speaker as I came across the finish. We back-of-the-packers tend to expect little fanfare.

The awards' ceremony and drawing began without a lengthy wait. The fruit juice and yogurt were welcome. I was thrilled at receiving a medal. Seeing the results so quickly was gratifying.

All in all, the treatment I received was impressive. I was in turn impressed with the race and Romulus. Bravo. Well done!

A Lonely inmate

To the Editor:

I am an inmate at the Westville Correctional Center. My life is filled with so much loneliness, sadness and confusion. I haven't received one letter since I've been here, simply because no one seems to care enough about me to write to me.

I get so depressed and lonely when I see other inmates receive letters from their family and friends. I sometimes find myself crying, because it really hurts!!!

Just to receive one letter would be worth a million to me.

I don't have any money to pay to have this letter published, but I would sure appreciate it very much if you would publish it for me out of the kindness of your heart.

Mistaken identity

To the Editor:

I have twice found myself referred to in your paper as the author of a document requesting a change of name for our lake to that of Van Buren Lake. I have also discovered (by reading your paper) that the township's earliest settlement was at French Landing, thus establishing the basis for changing the name of our township.

Although the articles to which I refer were interesting reading, they are not factual. I never made any such recommendation, nor did I ever suggest that French Landing was our earliest settlement.

I am totally opposed to changing the name of the lake or the Township. Fortunately, the Township Board of Trustees was wise enough to drop the matter at their last meeting.

I for one am terribly happy that they did!

Student urges millage passage

To the Editor:

As a graduating senior of Belleville High, I reflect upon the memories I have had while at the high school. Before I can say, "I've had the best years of my life," I am reminded of the many times I thought if I had only had the time, I could have taken that class or I should have taken that class instead of this one. Many students are feeling we have been cheated.

This summer I am taking classes at Eastern to prepare me for this fall when I begin attending Eastern Michigan University as a full time student. I feel that I'm not prepared for college because I have to take extra classes. I have been denied the opportunity to attend six classes during my high school years because of the six hour day being eliminated.

If the millage this June does not pass, another area will be cut, then another, and then yet another, until nothing is left for the children who are supposed to be the leaders of the future! People just do not understand, it's the children who suffer.

'Dial-a-porn' concern

To the Editor:

The Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals is concerned that minors can telephone so-called adult "dial-a-porn" telephone numbers now operating in the metropolitan Detroit area.

It is our understanding that Michigan Bell has been unsuccessful in trying to deny telephone service to "dial-a-porn" promoters. Michigan Bell has filed suit with the Oakland County Circuit Court requesting a ruling whether the current "dial-a-porn" telephone services are unlawful.

The federal Communication Commission will be making some decisions concerning this by June of this year.

If you are concerned and want something done about it, please contact your Congressmen and Senators, or write directly to:

Bush nets Mason's 32nd degree

Belleville resident James Bush was a member of a class of more than 200 Masons from 11 southeastern Michigan counties to receive Scottish Rite Freemasonry' 32nd Degree at the 296th semi-annual reunion of the Detroit Scottish Rite Bodies in May.

The reunion class was named in honor of Carl P. Stoliker, a Port Huron businessman, public official and civic leader, who is a trustee of the

James Bush

Scottish Rite Bodies and a 33rd Degree Mason.

NJROTC's memories

The Romulus NJROTC is rounding out their second year and is looking back with fondness on memories of what was accomplished.

The cadets headed for warmer weather last December, when they travelled to Jacksonville, Fla. Two months later they were on their way to Norfolk, Va., and had barely recovered from the five-day trip, when it was time for the second annual Military Ball on March 9.

Rounding out their travels was the April 22-28 mini-boot camp, held at Great Lakes, Ill.

"The Romulus NJROTC can offer so much to those young people who want to take advantage of the program," noted Nancy A. Herdon, who handles public affairs for the group. "The thing that stands out most is that the Naval science instructors can offer three scholarships to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, to qualifying cadets, who complete the program."

She added that "the most obtainable goal" is to qualify for one of the many educational trips offered to the ROTC by the U.S. Navy, which pays for air and ground transportation. The cadets pay only for the food they consume.

Girl Scouts earn Gold

The Girl Scout Gold Award is the highest achievement in Girl Scouting. It symbolizes outstanding accomplishments in the areas of leadership, community service, career planning and personal development.

The plan for fulfilling the requirements of the award is created by the Girl Scout herself and is carried out through close cooperation between the girl and her leader.

The Gold Award recognizes a Senior Girl Scout's commitment to excellence as she develops skills and values to meet present and future challenges in her life. To earn the Gold Award, each girl must complete a challenge in a community service project and take part in a review board interview to evaluate her work.

Recently, Huron Valley Girl Scout Council presented the "Gold Award" to nine Senior Girl Scouts at a special ceremony in the Guild Hall at Eastern Michigan University's McKenny Building. Each recipient was presented with a yellow rose, a Gold Award Certificate and pin, and letters of commendation from Governor James Blanchard, President Ronald Reagan, Jane Freeman, president of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. and Francis Hesselbein, executive director of GSUSA.

Phyllis Evans of Canton was the guest speaker. Her address focused on Ways Woman Can Become Leaders. The ceremony was planned by Ruth McMahon of Plymouth and the gold award support group.

Five of the recipients are from Senior Girl Scout Troop 711 from Belleville.

Theresa Garascia, a 10th grader at Belleville High School, is the daughter of Richard and Judy Garascia of Sherwood Road.

When asked what Girl Scouting means to her she replied:

"Girl Scouting has been and still is a great part of my life. I have always enjoyed every part of it."

Sarah Little, a junior at Belleville High School, is the daughter of James and Mary Little of Wilmot Road. After eight years of Girl Scouting, Little feels that "Girl Scouting has always been exciting and self-fulfilling."

Darlene Loyer has been active in Girl Scouting for eight years. She also is a junior at Belleville High School and is the daughter of Sophia Loyer of Bemis Road. Loyer feels "Girl Scouting has been a way for me to explore careers, meet new people and have fun all at the same time."

Tammy Teall, a 10th grader at Belleville High School, is the daughter of Norbert and Helen Teall of Bohn Road, Belleville. After high school Teall hopes to study to be a computer programmer/analyst at the University of Michigan.

Tarisa Wertz, also a junior at Belleville High School is the daughter of Richard and Maria Wertz who live on Elwell Road. Wertz's future plans include attending Michigan State University, where she would study veterinary medicine.

Tricia Karolyi, the daughter of James and Jill Karolyi of Harmony Lane, Belleville. She is a junior at Belleville High School and has been in Girl Scouting for 10 years. Karolyi hopes to attend the University of Michigan to pursue a career in medicine.

Julie Anne LaBenne has been active in Girl Scouting for 11 years and is a junior in high school. She is the daughter of James and June LaBenne of Birchdale, Romulus.

After high school, LeBenne would like to further her education by pursuing a career in either the arts or working with people.

About schools and sports

TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

There are many angry parents out there. They're angry because they feel that their kids are being shortchanged in today's classrooms. And their frustration is compounded by the erroneous conclusion that they can't do anything about it.

On Monday, June 11 voters in all of the local school districts can voice their opinions. They can elect school board members who are compatible to their philosophy of education.

It's as easy as that. School board members, as well as elected officials are as stoppable as an ant crossing your kitchen floor. Step on it and it is gone. Go to the ballot box and if enough voters agree with you and that school board trustee or elected official who has failed to do his or her job is dissipated.

And my sympathies to all of the athletic booster clubs in the local school districts. For nearly a decade now it has been up to booster club members, coaches, athletes and fans to raise money in order to save athletics and sports. You would think that they would be tired of all of this, and they may well be, but they continue to raise the funds.

In Van Buren, for example, the price tag for competitive sports is $84,000 for the 1984-85 school year. And the folks out there should be commended. They've raised approximately $60,000 of the needed total.

Concordia College recruits must have rival schools chattering like magpies as they sign one star after the other in this area. Assistant basketball coach Richard Zalenski reports that Concordia has signed Plymouth Canton's all-area Gary Thomas.

Thomas, a 5-11, shooting guard led the Chiefs to an overall 17-5 season and its first Western Lakes Conference championship. He averaged 18.2 points per game.

Gary will join Erich Hartnett, also of Plymouth, and Anthony Strickland, of Wayne Memorial fame, on the Concordia cage roster.

"We got three quality people and players from this area," Zalenski said, "and, believe me, we're very happy about it."

A note of patience to area golfers. Although we have not officially announced the 1984 "Silver Anniversary" City Championship Golf Tournament, starting next week there will be information about the tournament on these pages. It will be held July 21 and July 22 at Dun Rovin. Please keep in tune to these pages.

Back to co-chair the tournament are always reliable William Hawley and Bill Whitworth. They are as anxious as we are to get this year's tournament going.

Heartbreaker

Northville slams door on Glenn's district title hopes

Back in the mid-1960s when most of the Rockets' baseball team were still in strollers, there was a popular song by Gene Pitney called "Heartbreaker."

Last Saturday afternoon, that particular song title hit home as the Rockets of Westland John Glenn suffered a heartbreaking 2-1 loss at the hands of Northville. The loss dropped them out of contention in the state baseball tournament and ended their season at 15-9.

Coach Norm Hoenes, ending his 19th year of coaching on a sour note, said, "It was a good game if you're a spectator. But it was a heartbreaker for the kids."

Glenn entered the game without their shortstop, Cass Simpson, who had been injured in a scrimmage game on Thursday. Consequently, Hoenes shuffled his line-up for this all-important game, putting Bruce Billings, the Rockets' leading hitter, in the lead-off spot, moving Dave Briski in at short, and letting his pitcher, Donn Wolfe, bat.

But it was Northville that scored first. Their lead-off batter, center-fielder Steve Frellick, reached on a single and stole second.

Wolfe bore down and got two successive outs on a strikeout and a grounder to first which Wolfe handled himself on the toss from Bob Kujawski. But he didn't get the next batter. Second baseman Mickey Newman got Wolfe as he rocketed (no pun intended) a pitch over the fence and Northville led, 2-0, after one inning.

The Rockets, meanwhile, were being throttled by the Mustang hurler, Doug Doyle. After a lead-off walk to Billings in the first, Doyle retired 13 of the next 16 batters to face him.

Said Hoenes, "We didn't hit the ball at all."

Doyle walked three batters but he was tough when he had to be, though. Most of his outs were recorded within the infield, with only two out-field flies in the first four innings.

In fact, Doyle was fashioning a no-hitter until Rockets second sacker Dave Jensen stepped to the plate with two out in the fifth inning. Jensen, who has hit well over the second half of the season, lined a single to left, making Doyle feel like Dan Petry did earlier in the year when he surrendered a late-game hit to break up a no-hit bid.

Doyle attempted to pick him off at third. The Rockets were in business but Doyle soon put them into bankruptcy by fanning the next batter to end the threat.

Wolfe also was doing a fine job in holding Northville at bat after the first inning homerun. He allowed six more hits but, like Doyle, was tough when he had to be.

"Donny pitched very, very well," said Hoenes of the effort put forth by his senior ace hurler in what turned out to be his final game in red, white, and blue of Glenn.

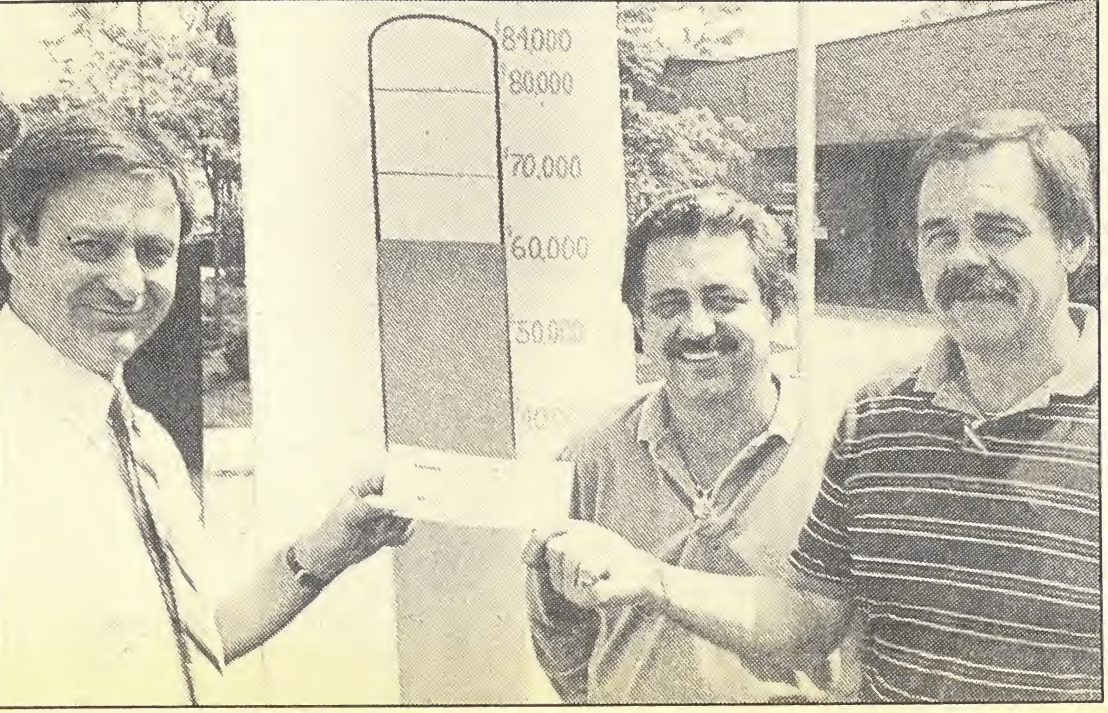

In the sixth, Glenn broke through for a run off Doyle. With one out, Briski slammed his team-leading fourth home run, bringing his team within one, 2-1.

Again, Doyle got tough and retired the next two hitters to close out the inning.

In the seventh, Bill Perdue walked with one out off Doyle and hope still glimmered for the Rockets. Up stepped right fielder John Clemmons who had tallied 14 rbis during the season.

Clemmons slammed a ball as hard as anyone can hit a ball but unfortunately for the Rockets, Mustang third baseman Bob Pegrum snared it for one out, then threw it across the diamond to first and doubled up Perdue.

Doyle had his victory, Northville advanced.

Nearer their goal

The Belleville High Booster Club came $500 nearer its goal of $84,000 when co-owners of Goofy's Car Wash in Belleville donated that sum to keep high school athletics alive in the schools. Making the check presentation to Belleville's athletic director, Michael Colletta (at left) are car wash owners Jeffrey V. Brookshire and David Bisel. The school district's board of education has cautioned the Booster club that if the monies are not raised, varsity athletics will have to be eliminated from the district's programs.

State-ranked Divine Child ousts Cherry Hill

A sixth inning Cherry Hill rally fell short as the Spartans lost a 10-6 decision to the No. 1 Class B state-ranked Divine Child in the semi-final round of the Class B district playoffs held Saturday at Oak Park.

Coach Ken Mientkiewicz's ball club came up with four runs in that sixth but was not able to make up a seven-run Falcon surge in the first two innings. "I'm extremely proud of this ball club," said Coach Mientkiewicz. "We made D.C. sweat for its victory, and they're one of the finest teams in the state."

Cherry Hill brought the curtains down to a 13-9 over-all and a 9-5 Tri-River Conference year. The Spartans finished second to Melvindale in the league. Mike Merriman, who lasted one complete inning against Divine Child digested the loss. After D.C. had scored three runs in the initial frame and picked up four more in the next inning, Merriman was removed for reliever Tom Storti who handcuffed the Falcons until the bottom of the sixth when they scored two more runs.

Cherry Hill got to starter and winning pitcher Jim Agemy for four big runs in the sixth when Dan Sanchez led off with a grounder to second which was booted, then Mark Leskovitz singled, placing base runners on first and second. Tom Storti then singled in a run. After Agemy notched a strikeout, Ken Farmer singled, driving in the second run. Mark Bayliss followed with a single, and Paul Oster was safe on DC's second miscue of the inning, loading the bases. Steve Radomski singled in the Spartans' final run of the 1984 campaign. Then Sanchez, up for the second time in the inning and with bases loaded, hammered an Agemy fastball which broke the aluminum bat, but ended in a force out.

"You know that's the first time I've ever seen something like that happen," Mientkiewicz said. "If that bat hadn't broken, the outcome of the game could have been different."

Cherry Hill collected one run in the fifth with two away when Bayliss walked and was chased home on singles by Oster and Radomski. In the fourth, Radomski led off with a single, moved to second when Merriman walked and a passed ball and a groundout produced their first run.

Here's what the Tigers are all about

One of the reasons the Detroit Tigers have the best record in Major League Baseball this season is that Manager Sparky Anderson has made good use of all the players on the team.

Let's take a look at each player on the club and what he's accomplished so far.

GLENN ABBOTT — Victim of team's fast start. Has only pitched 17 innings, but has won two games and has pitched well. Last season he had a 1.93 E.R.A., best on team. Was picked VP from Seattle.

DOUG BAIR — Has done a great job in long and short relief, winning two games and saving three others. At age 34, he is still a power-pitcher and is actually throwing harder this season than he did last year.

JUAN BERENGUER — Has been inconsistent so far with a 3-3 record. Possessing one of the games best fast balls, he's had control problems again. A return to his form of a year ago will help team a lot.

DAVE BERGMAN — A pleasant surprise, and what a great defensive first baseman. At the plate he's done a good job, too. Has a good attitude like most of the Tigers.

TOM BROOKENS — Forget the .154 batting average. This guy has played great third base. Also has played well at shortstop and second base, too. A very valuable player who knows his role.

MARTY CASTILLO — Has not played much, but has done well when called upon. Like Brookens, is a versatile player who can catch and play third base and in a pinch play elsewhere.

DARRELL EVANS — Alternating as a D.H. and first baseman, he's done well. Hasn't hit with the power the Tigers expected but has driven in runs. I look for this guy to crank up and hit a lot of homers for this team.

BARBARO GARBEY — What a hitter he is. And not bad with the glove, either. With most teams he would play every day but this team has too much talent. Still he is hitting over .300 and has a real good R.B.I. ratio.

KIRK GIBSON — Has shown he can play this game. Is improved defensively and at the plate, he's become a better hitter. Leads team in game winning R.B.I.'s. Running the bases better, too. Maybe, just maybe, he's changed his attitude for the best. What power and what speed!

JOHN GRUBB — This veteran has done a heck of a job. Doesn't play much but when he does, look out. Good clutch hitter. Has three game winning R.B.I.'s in just 44 at-bats.

LARRY HERNDON — What a mystery. After hitting 43 homers the last two seasons, he has not hit any this year, nor has he come close. Despite being in a position to drive in runs, he has just 10 R.B.I.'s playing every day. He is the one player on the team who's not carrying his load.

WILLIE HERNANDEZ — What a gem. A lefty reliever the team needed. Two wins, seven saves. Can pitch every day. Can strike people out. What a life saver.

HOWARD JOHNSON — A diamond in the rough. This guy can flat out hit. Should play more. Good power, good speed. Has hit right-handers well. Switch hitter. Should get a chance against left handers. Has good R.B.I. ratio. Good eye at play. If played every day would have good stats.

RUSTY KUNTZ — Biggest surprise on team. Hitting over .400 this season, driving in runs. Career .216 hitter, who's found himself. Real good defensively, with good arm and good speed. Also has an excellent attitude.

CHET LEMON — What a year. Hitting over .300 among league leaders in home runs, R.B.I.'s and slugging percent. Also playing great center field. Playing great and hard.

AURELIO LOPEZ — A life-saver. Four wins, seven saves, 1.67 E.R.A., only 25 hits in 43 innings. What more could you ask? Last year, he came apart at the seams late in the season. Hope it won't happen this year. A real stopper in the pen.

DWIGHT LOWRY — Another pleasant surprise. Good defensive catcher with strong arm. Handles himself well.

JACK MORRIS — First 10-game winner in majors. Maybe the best pitcher in baseball. Leads league in strikeouts, complete games and innings pitched. What more can you say?

LANCE PARRISH — Hot and cold. Doing well defensively, throwing out runners. Inconsistent at plate, but when it's all said and done the stats will be there. Great player.

DAN PETRY — Eight wins. Pitching better this season. Allowing fewer home runs. Really blossoming. Should win 20. One of best young pitchers in baseball.

DAVE ROZEMA — Hasn't pitched too much. Been injured. Still a key. Can start or pitch long or short relief.

ALAN TRAMMEL — May be the M.V.P. in league right now. Leading A.L. in hitting, hits, doubles and runs. Playing great short-stop.

LOU WHITAKER — The second half of baseball's double play combo. Hitting around .300. Playing great second base. Just quietly doing his job.

Softballers start swinging

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Defense was the name of the game when Middlebelt Bar and Littler Caesar's clashed for the first time this season in the Romulus Class A Women's Softball League.

And Middlebelt managed to pull out a cliffhanging 2-1 victory over their rivals as winner Marilyn Mach and loser Janis Coleman each pitched seven-hit ball. Middlebelt came up with two runs in the bottom of the sixth after Caesar's tilted the scoreboard in that inning for its lone run.

Jane McBride and Lori Summerfield each had a single and double for the winners while Mach gave up a pair of singles to Anita Glaab and Sue Fitzpatrick's base hit drove in the lone run for the losers.

In other Class A action, the Fighting Flirts scored four times in the bottom of the fifth and went on to edge Century 21 by a score of 5-4. Century 21 put three runs on the scoreboard in the second inning, then tied it at 4-all in the sixth before the winners broke the knot.

Vicki Forest was tagged for two hits each by Kelly Ton, Karen Gill and Donna Wegienka, while Pat Steubble's two-bagger drove in two runs for the losers.

Kim Beckly and Patty Kalasz each accounted for a pair of hits and Forest aided her cause with a run-scoring double.

In the meantime, over in the Men's "B" Division, Ramada Inn handed Pickle Barrel its second consecutive loss, 12-4, as Dave Reimer gave up 12 hits, including two hits each to Gary Palazzolo and Ron Griffin who led the losers. On the other side of the ledger, Kurt Bowen got to loser, Griffin, for four singles, and Chris Hoth laced a single and triple for the winners.

Greg's Emergency Room and Mitch's Party Store played a 10-inning marathon before Greg's scored seven times in the 10th to win a 11-6 decision. Greg's got a homer and three hits each from Mike Sharp and John Schwagerhan while winning pitcher Duane Aschman gave up three hits to Kevin Gibson and two each to Ed Paris, Tom Brady, Dave LeLand and Steve McDonald.

The Bohemian Brothers scored six times in the third inning and added seven more in the fourth to bury Kerr Sybron 16-1. Dale LaLonde collected four hits off of loser Chip Oulette, including two doubles, while Tony Rhoades tripled and had two singles and Dave McBride checked in with three RBIs, a homer and two singles.

'Entertainer of the Year' eyes recording contract

LISA LIGRECI

BY ROSE MARY REIZ
ANP Staff Writer

After two appearances on the "Saturday Night's Music Machine" television show, she was voted Entertainer of the Year by judges and viewers. Tiger baseball announcer and songwriter Ernie Harwell is penning an original tune for her.

She has a steady job singing in a local nightclub, a happy marriage and a healthy young daughter.

At 24, singer Lisa LiGreci is setting the world ablaze, making hometown Canton proud... and proving that Father doesn't always know best.

"My dad worked at Michigan Bell for 35 years," the young singer recalls, "and he really wanted something secure for me in the way of a job. My family was a little upset when I decided to go into music full time."

LiGreci tried it their way first.

After graduating from high school, she took a job with Michigan Bell as a switch systems technician's assistant ("a fancy name for a boring job," she now says).

"Around that time I met Joseph LiGreci, who was singing at Dino's, a nightclub in Westland," the singer remembers.

"He got me up on the stage to sing one night. Soon after we were engaged, I quit my job at Bell and decided to start singing professionally with Joe."

The two were married in 1978 and performed both together and separately with local bands.

Three years later, they welcomed Lisa Vivian, now 1½, into the family and continued to perform together at Jamie's on 7 mile in Livonia, the nightclub that producers from WDIV-TV contacted regarding a possible television appearance for Lisa.

"I thought it was a joke when the producer from WDIV called," it was for real. Then everything began happening so fast, I was more excited than nervous."

The singer arrived at the television studio a day later, prepared for a lengthy audition before the producers of the "Music Machine" shows.

"But after I sang just a few bars of some songs for them, they told me to go home — they'd call me," LiGreci laughs. "I was surprised when they really did call."

Screen tests were conducted, forms signed and clothing (a red mini dress, lavender tights and purple shoes — "I wanted to stand out," LiGreci laughs) purchased for her January television debut.

That broadcast, in which LiGreci belted "Love's got a Line on You," by Scandal, resulted in a trip for two to Las Vegas and a place with seven other singers in the show's semi-finals.

The field of eight musicians was narrowed to three when viewers chose their favorite performers on ballots available at local McDonald's restaurants.

An overwhelming 9,000 of 20,000 votes tabulated were cast for the tiny lady with the terrific voice.

On May 19, LiGreci was named the "Music Machine's" entertainer of the year by judges Frankie Valli, Casey Kasem and Carmen Harlan.

LiGreci received plenty of See SINGER, Page C-7

Search for Spock hits gold

By STEVE O'LEARY
ANP Staff Writer

Star Trek III: The Search For Spock

Starring: William Shatner, DeForest Kelley, James Doohan, George Takei, Walter Koenig, Nichelle Nichols, Ribin Curtis, Christopher Lloyd, Leonard Nimoy. Written and Produced by Harve Bennett. Directed by Leonard Nimoy. Rated PG. Now showing at area theatres and drive-ins.

The title of this movie pretty well explains the gist of it; not necessarily the route it will take, but as first-time director Leonard Nimoy has said over the past few weeks, they couldn't very well make an audience sit for two hours at a film titled "Search For Spock," and at the end have Captain Kirk say, "Oh well, we just couldn't find him."

It is no longer a secret that Spock returns after his death in "Star Trek II: The Wrath of Kahn. You will not, however, hear from me how he comes back, nor what condition he's in when he does. One person I know is convinced he'll come back as a tree. Spock that is — not the friend.

Anyway, on to the film. Is it better than the first Star Trek film? No problem there. Reruns of "The A Team" are better than that one.

Better than "Kahn"? Close, but I've got to give "Search For Spock" the nod, even though the second film was not only a great Star Trek movie, but a great rousing adventure on celluloid.

What makes it better? It's hard to say, but I'll begin with director Nimoy's perfect use of characters, the same characters Star Trek fans have loved for years. He gets what is probably the best acting in his career out of William Shatner, and happily, for the first time, Sulu and Lt. Uhura are featured in the forefront, and the two of them have some of the best lines in the film.

Another very strong point for this latest — and last — voyage of the Starship Enterprise is the abundance of humor it contains. Some would be funny even to those who don't know Kirk from Chekov, but most are "in" jokes, the same kind we've come to expect of the crew from the lamented television series and the last film. There are more yuks per parsek here than Star Trek has known before.

Perhaps the only disappointment in the film is Robin Curtis' portrayal of Saavic, the half-Vulcan, half-Romulan protege of Spock we were introduced to last time out by the far superior Kirstie Alley. Alley was dumped over a salary dispute, and with her went the most intriguing new character introduced to the cast since the second television season.

One particularly bright spot is Kruger, a bad guy of the first degree (what else? He's a Klingon ...) played to perfection by Christopher Lloyd, best known as Rev. Jim on Taxi.

Dr. McCoy, played by Kelley, has a larger - than- ever - before part too, and he really takes advantage of it. Anyone who saw Star Trek II will undoubtedly remember Spock's "Remember" mind-meld just before his death. It unravels well.

There are any number of questions on the minds of fans from the last film (cliffhangers of sorts), and this movie answers them, leaving more for the next excursion of the cast and whatever new ship they end up on (my guess is they'll build a new Enterprise II).

It is to Nimoy's credit that the resurrection of Spock is made believable, at least in this imaginary world. It is also his credit that he has helmed the best Star Trek to date. Let's hope he's in the same position on Star Trek IV, which seems to be a certainty.

Add "The Search For Spock" to your list of MUST SEE films of the summer, along with "Indiana Jones" and, more than likely, the upcoming "Gremlins" and "Ghostbusters."

Tom's Tavern hosts picnic

Tom's Tavern is doing it again ... hosting its second annual Wayne Against Muscular Dystrophy Picnic.

The fun and festivities will get underway at 12 noon Sunday, June 10, at Attwood Park, Howe Road south of Annapolis, Wayne, and continue until dark.

Cost for the picnic will be $2 for adults and 50 cents for children. The cost will include food and refreshments, provided by area businesses, and softball games with prizes to be awarded, kicking off at 1 p.m. with a contest between the Wayne city employees and TV-radio sportscasters.

At 5 p.m. Midnight Cruiser will be center stage to provide music of the '50s and '60s.

Tom Christopoulos, owner of Tom's Tavern, hopes to attract from 400 to 1,000 picnickers for the event, but to make it an even bigger success, he needs amateur chefs to cook the food that will be served.

All proceeds will be donated to the Muscular Dystrophy Association, including the profits from souvenir T-shirts that will be sold for $5 each.

Christopoulos raised $500 at last year's picnic, even though it was held on Father's Day, and hopes with an earlier date this year to raise more than $2,000 for MDA.

Persons interested in helping with the picnic can contact Christopoulos at 721-3860.

Captain James Kirk and crew can still be seen combing the galaxy, looking for the NBC executives that cancelled the television show.

Singer

calls after the broadcast, one from promotor Bob Harris, who contacted the singer on the off chance that no one was yet representing the new talent.

"I've been in the business 25 years and I know talent when I see it," Harris says.

"To make it in this business, you need a good voice and good looks. Lisa's got both."

The promotor, who represents several local celebrities including the Michigan Panthers' cheerleaders, is confident about his newest client's future.

"Our next step is to find material for Lisa," he explains. "We're excited about the song Ernie Harwell is writing and we're looking into recording contracts as well."

In the meantime, LiGreci is busy performing weekends with Joe at Jamie's; planning for a June 19 appearance in the Music Machine Review at Hart Plaza, and preparing for a guest spot in hometown Canton's Country Festival Parade this weekend.

Some dreams may take the singer farther from home.

"I'd like to be a big recording star," LiGreci admits, "and," she adds shyly, "I'd love to do a duet someday with Paul McCartney."

"You have to work hard, know a lot of people and have some luck to make it in this business," she reflects. "Mostly I just consider myself lucky to be working steadily — in this business, that's pretty rare."

ORVETTE DAMAGE JUSTIFIES VACATING APARTMENT COMPLEX

Dear Letter Writer:

I can't afford to live in my apartment. My Corvette has been damaged and stolen and my insurance company is irate. I have time left on my lease, but I can't live here anymore. Can you write a letter to the management company and explain to them what is happening so that maybe they will let me out and return my security deposit?

Sincerely, CA

Dear Management Company: This letter is an attempt to apprise you of the circumstances that have provoked the cessation of my tenancy in your apartment complex.

I am the owner of a 1981 Corvette automobile.

In July of 1981, my automobile, while parked in the parking lot near my apartment, was vandalized, vis a vis the rear window smashed and my T-Tops stolen. This vandalism resulted in my filing a claim against my insurance company in the amount of $1,247.

In July 27, 1981, again while parked in the parking lot near my apartment, the passenger window on my Corvette was broken and one T-Top was stolen, resulting in my filing another claim with my insurance company in the amount of $843.

On August 13, 1981, at 3:30 a.m., I was awakened, looked out of my window and observed my Corvette being stolen. Not wanting to risk physical harm from the thieves, I immediately made a call to the Police Department seeking their assistance.

I was informed by the Police that I did not live in their city. They directed me to the Sheriff's Department, who informed me that they did not police your apartment complex. They suggested that I contact another police department, who explained that they closed at 10 p.m. This department referred me to another department who did not arrive until 10:30 a.m. on the next day, fully seven hours later. Needless to say, by this time, my car was successfully stolen.

On October 3, 1981, my car was found and returned to me. On October 7, 1981, four days after return of my car, it was again parked in the parking lot and again an attempt was made to steal the car, which I was able to stop, however, not before the passenger window was, again, broken and 1 T-Top vandalized. When I filed this third claim, my insurance company informed me that they were increasing my insurance premiums and I was in jeopardy of losing my insurance coverage if I filed any more claims.

During this entire period of time, from July to December of 1981, I made many attempts to speak with you, as manager of my complex, in an effort to elicit some support with respect to effectuating better security on the parking lot premises. As a tenant, I have a clearly reasonable right to expect protection of my personal property, while legally parked in a private area for which I am paying for residence. You have a legal and moral obligation to provide me with this protection.

Having exhausted all my resources, having extended myself financially, having suffered the discomfort of being without my car on numerous occasions, having jeopardized my insurability, I have made a determination that your apartment complex is UNINHABITABLE.

On December 3, 1981, I returned my keys and paid my December rent payment and notified management that I was vacating the premises. Please forward to me, no later than July 16, 1982, a check in where they had spent several days with their daughter, Paula Dolph, who has been ill.

Sincerely, CS

RESOLUTION: The requested security deposit refund was timely sent, and CS was released from the balance of his lease obligation. We do, after all, have a right to protection and rented premises should be habitable.

The story behind ...

If ever there was a time to indulge in pats on the back, now is it. Here goes:

For every story, there is a story behind the story. Ours happens to be the story behind the "1984 International Games for the Disabled Guide".

Without the clear, and consistent support of Associated Newspapers, a Western Wayne County weekly chain of hometown newspapers, this Guide would simply not have been possible. Our thanks goes to Associated Newspapers Publisher David J. Willett, and his cooperative staff.

And, then there are our "International Games Guide" advertisers, equally responsible for the success of this Guide.

These are the people who have demonstrated their support and recognition to our state and nation's fine, and outstanding handicapper athletes. And, these are the people who have invested in a special commemoration of our 1984 Handicapper Olympic hopefuls.

Those involved in the preparation and publishing of this Olympics Guide are aware of the tens of millions of handicappers whose onerous environments force them to take small steps, to exhaust themselves in mundane tasks that leave so little time for ascending to the heights of which they are capable, and the creativity to which they aspire.

For one six-inch curb can stop a man, so too, can the daily degradations of passers-by.

These barriers, these environments, impose limitations and exact penalties often far greater than do the handicaps themselves. When the effort merely to get out of the house or to understand the words of another human being is so great that it commands every available ounce of energy . . . , a man's spirit can rarely soar.

That is why these handicapper athletes are so inspirational. That is why they should be applauded, admired, and recognized.

And, that is why this Guide: In remembrance of their abilities.

Carrie Young
Executive Editor of CONQUEST, a monthly for seniors and handicappers.

Ms. Young is the Coordinator of the 1984 International Games for the Disabled Olympics Guide.

Michigan's Dozen

Michigan is sending an Olympic's dozen to the 1984 International Games for the Disabled.

Of the 65 handicapper athletes representing the U.S.A. Team, an impressive dozen are top-notch athletes from Michigan.

THEY ARE: Kris Lenzo, from Detroit; Kathie Kessler, from Lansing; Ericka Benjamin, from Westland; John Sacco, from Inkster; Jane Angela Spitzley, from Lansing; Marguerite Maddox from Detroit; Mary Lou Baranski, from Warren; Amy Van Gilder, from Pontiac; Candy Demarois, from Waterford; Kurt L. Krueger, from Allen Park; Nancy Anderson, from Lansing; and Shaun Graham, from Inkster.

And, they are proud.

Proud of their athletic achievements. Proud of overcoming the odds of daily living. Proud of not allowing themselves to be handicapped by a society centuries-entrenched in physical and attitudinal barriers.

Because, these are not handicapped persons. They are not disabled. They are not crippled.

THEY ARE: People with outstanding athletic abilities. Outstanding enough to qualify them for international competition. And, they are people who just happen to have physical differences.

"Maybe I have Cerebral Palsy, and that makes me different from others," said John Sacco, "But, that's where the difference ends."

John "Sox" Sacco, 24, of Inkster, is a 1984 contender in the International Games for the Disabled. An event where ability, not disability, tally up to silver, bronze, and gold medals.

"I have the same desires and ambitions as everyone else," said Sacco. "Winning a gold medal just happens to be my ultimate goal."

Erika Benjamin, a 19-year-old Westlander nods in agreement.

"I never thought I'd be going to the International Games, but here I am," Erika said. "I hope to clean up on the medals. For me, I want to make my family the proudest they can be of me . . ."

"So, what's so different about that?"

John Sacco

Never mind they are 3,000 in number, and have the cooperation of 50 countries. Including Russia.

Never mind these high caliber, serious athletes have overcome more physical barriers, prejudices, discrimination, and overriding odds than any of their able-bodied athletic counterparts.

And, forget for a moment that theirs is the stuff of the Guinness Book of World Records.

"The 1984 International Games for the Disabled is still not anywhere the media attention-getter it should be," laments Shaun Graham.

Shaun, 32, of Inkster, has Multiple Sclerosis. The unpredictable disease has been a part of his life for nearly three years. It's made walking difficult. And, it's brought on unexpected, and increased levels of fatigue.

But, those are not nearly as annoying to Shaun as the lack of media attention given to the 1984 International Games for the Disabled.

"As a serious athlete selected to participate in the Games, I'm really frustrated and disappointed in the media," Shaun told CONQUEST and Associated Newspapers. "The Russians haven't pulled out from our games. But, is that publicized? No.

He said, "We've got more countries involved in our event, and some of the world's most outstanding athletes. A Guinness World Book of Records athlete is one of them, and yet the publicity is all on the able-bodied olympics."

Shaun is miffed. And, rightfully so, says Jeffery Jones.

Jones, sports and recreation supervisor at the Unied Cerebral Palsy Association of Detroit, is also one of the coaches at the 1984 International Games, scheduled for June 16-30 at Nassau County, New York.

"The International Games just happens to be as important, if not more, than the L.A. Summer Olympics," Jones reasoned. "Our international competition for individuals with physical characteristics hold all the same glory and significance as do top caliber able-bodied competition."

However, relaying that message to the media and general public has not been easy.

"Whenever stories are printed about the International Games," Shaun said, "they're printed in the special features section. Never the sports section where they belong.

Nevertheless, Shaun assures he is extolling the same virtues of patience to the media and public as he is to his own personal battle with Multiple Sclerosis.

"It's a slow process, I know," Shaun smiled. "And, there have been some positives, such as:

- Televised commercial spots on network t.v. featuring endorsements of the 1984 International Games for the Disabled by some able-bodied 1984 L.A. Olympic hopefuls.

- A cereal commercial, and plans for a handicapper athlete to be a featured endorser of that breakfast product.

- An exhibition game to feature handicapper athletes at the L.A. Olympics, and scheduled to perform before an audience of in excess of 90,000.

- Securing the internationally renown "Spinners" to perform at Opening Ceremonies.

- "Things are improving," Shaun said. "Can't wait for 1988 . . ."

“Homegrown” are Handicapper athletes

The 1984 International Games for the Disabled is significant on several counts: FIRST: For the first time since its creation, the International Games will take place in the United States. Schedule is for June 16-30, at Nassau County, New York.

SECOND: The International Games is an olympic-style event featuring the world's top amputee, blind, cerebral palsy and Les Autres* (A French term for “others”) athletes.

THIRD: The Russians have not pulled out of these games.

FOURTH: More than 3,000 athletes are involved, with 50 countries participating. Headlining the Games' Opening Ceremonies will be the “Spinners,” and Honorary Chairpersons include President Ronald Reagan, and the Governor of New York.

But, of special interest to Michiganians is the International Games “homegrown” flavor.

Last year Michigani Michael Mushett, of Westland, was selected as International Games Director. Mushett, formerly the director of the Tri-City (Western Wayne County) Therapeutic Recreation Program, is an internationally recognized expert in sports programs for handicappers.

“To have Mike in charge is exciting, because if anyone is considered the ‘Father of Therapeutic Recreation for Handicappers,’ it is Mike,” said Mary Beth Watkins, Mushett's replacement at the Tri-City program.

Mushett, 31, is a graduate of Xavier University in Cincinnati, and holds a Master's Degree in Therapeutic Recreation from Central Michigan University.

He is the founder of the Tri-City program, having started the state's pilot project in 1975.

In 1980, Mushett was the head Cerebral Palsy Coach for the U.S. Team which competed in the 1980 International Games, hosted by Holland. And, in 1981 he was director of the 33rd annual National Wheelchair Basketball Tournament. In 1982, Mushett was coach of the U.S. Gold Medal Wheelchair Soccer Team at the World Cerebral Palsy Games in Gieve, Denmark.
